RESCUE TRAIN TO SCENE

JUAREZ, Mexico, Feb. 7.—The nine Americans and forty or fifty Mexicans whose fate has been a mystery since the destruction of the Cumbre Tunnel last Wednesday were suffocated. This information was received here this evening at the headquarters of the Mexico Northwestern railroad. The tragedy is laid at the doors of Maximo Castillo, the bandit leader.

A special train carrying twenty Americans, led by W. J. Farragut, of the Mexico Northwestern railroad, fifty coffins and a rescue outfit left

The exact number of persons aboard the passenger train which consisted of one first class, two second class coaches, a baggage and express car and a freight car, is not known. First reports put the number at 35, although 75 coffins were asked for.

This evidently was an estimate however, as the searching party, led by Dr. F. C. Herr of Madera was unable to penetrate far enough into the tunnel to count the dead.

These it is expected will be found strewn along the railroad reaches of the tunnel, where they fell in attempting to escape. Dr. Hlerr reached a body within 300 feet of the north entrance to the tunnel. It was that of Juan Fernandez, rear-brakeman of the train. As the passenger train did not stop until within a few hundred feet of the freight train with which Castillo had set fire to the tunnel several hours before, Fernandez must have staggered and crawled nearly three quarters of a mile before he succumbed to the fumes of the smoke.

On Tuesday 22 of his men were captured and executed by the rebels and the next day apparently in revenge, he captured the freight train, ran it into the south end of the tunnel about 300 feet and there set fire to it.

The passenger train entered the death rap from the north unsuspectingly. When the engineer discovered the trap it was too late. Just what his actions were will be known after an examination of the locomotive has been made.

Castillo's failure to send back

The missing Americans all employees of the railroad are M. J. Gilman, superintendent of the Chihuahua division; Barnard Scofield, superintendent of terminals at Juarez; Lee Williams, assistant manager of commissary; H. F. Marders, express agent; E. J. McCutcheon, engineer and J. E. Webster, conductor.

A bulletin from Pearson tonight says that three additional Americans were on the ill fated train. They were Edward Morris, roadmaster, James Kelly, a conductor and Omar Navarro. The SOCIAL EVENTS.

The South Side Circle met Friday afternoon with Mrs. T. H. Buckthorpe, 814 South Main street. Mrs. E. L. Crouch had the paper of the afternoon, her subject being "The Business of Being a Woman." The call was answered with a conundrum. A delightful social hour followed and light refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. W. Brown gave a surprise birthday party Saturday night at her residence, 1042 West State street, in honor of her son, Warfield. Twenty of his friends gathered at the home of Mrs. William Barr Brown and went in a body to his home. The young man was most agreeably taken aback when all marched in dressed in "Rag Tag" fashions. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour and some delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Alden Brown of 1122 West State street entertained at cards yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Isaac Powers of Terre Haute, Ind., who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mathews, and Mrs. Harry Henning of Albuquerque, N. M., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hockenbush. Miss Mary Wadsworth won the first award and the guest prize went to Mrs. Powers. Light refreshments were served and the hours were very enjoyably spent.

ONE WAY TO VISIT

The Tarahumare of Mexico Has a Style All His Own.

NEVER STARTLES HIS HOST.

He Is Too Politely Deliberate For That and the Compliment Is Faithfully Returned—Ceremonies In the House Have a Rather Abrupt Ending.

For a barbarian the Tarahumare is a very polite personage. In his language he even has a word "reke," which is the equivalent of the English "please" and which he uses constantly. When speaking to a stranger or leaving a person, he draws attention to his action by saying, "I am going." As he grows civilized, however, he loses his good manners.

In spite of this he is not hospitable; the guest gets food, but there is no room for him in the house of a Tarahumare. A visitor never thinks of entering a house without first giving the family ample time to get ready to receive him. When he approaches a friend's home good manners require him to stop sometimes as far as twenty or thirty yards off. If he is on more intimate terms with the family, he may come nearer, and make his presence known by coughing; then he sits down, selecting some little knoll from which he can be readily seen.

In order not to embarrass his friends he does not even look at the house, but remains sitting there gazing into vacancy, his back or side turned toward the homestead. Should the host be absent the visitor may thus sit for a couple of hours; then he will rise and go slowly away again. But under no circumstances will he enter the home, unless formally invited, "because," he says, "only the dogs enter houses uninvited."

Never will the woman of the house commit such a gross breach of etiquette as to go out and inform him of her husband's absence, to save the caller the trouble of waiting, nor will she, if alone at home, make any statements as to his whereabouts.

The Tarahumare never does anything without due deliberation; therefore he may for a quarter of an hour discuss with his wife the possible purpose of the visit before he goes out to see the man. They peep through the cracks in the wall at him, and if they happen to be eating or doing anything they may keep the visitor waiting for half an hour.

Finally the host shakes out the blanket on which he has been sitting, throws it around himself, and, casting a rapid glance to the right and left as he goes through the door, goes to take a seat a few yards distant from the caller. After some meditation on either side the conversation, as in more civilized society, opens with remarks about the weather and the prospects for rain.

When this subject is exhausted and the host's curiosity as to where the man came from, what he is doing and where he is going is satisfied, the former may go back to the house and fetch some meat and pinole for the traveler. The object of the visit is not infrequently an invitation to take part in some game or foot race, and as the men are sure to remain undisturbed they generally reach some understanding.

A friend of the family is, of course, finally invited to enter the house, and the customary salutation is "Assaga" ("Sit down"). In this connection it may be noted that the Tarahumares in conversation look sideways, or even turn their backs toward the person they speak to.

After having eaten, the guest will carefully return every vessel in which the food was given to him, and when he rises he hands back the skin on which he was seated. Should occasion require the host will say: "It is getting late and you cannot return to your home tonight. Where are you going to sleep? There is a good cave over yonder."

With this he may indicate where the visitor may remain overnight. He will also tell him where he may find wood for the fire, and he will bring him food, but not unless the weather is very tempestuous will he invite an outsider to sleep in the house.—From Carl Lumholtz's "Unknown Mexico."

Knew Where She Went.

An attorney was cross-examining a witness.

"You say you left Boston on the 10th?" queried the lawyer.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness.

"And returned on the 28th?"

"Yes, sir."

"What were you doing in the interim?"

"I never was in such a place," she replied indignantly, with heightened color.—Boston Herald.

What She Did.

HEIMLICH HOME BADLY DAMAGED BY FLAMES

Fire Fanned by Wind Burned Fiercely—Loss Quite Heavy on Both Dwelling and Contents.

Shortly before noon Saturday fire was discovered at the residence of D. T. Heimlich on South East street and the structure was very badly damaged by fire and water. Mr. Heimlich believes that the damages is around $3,500 to $4,000 and his insurance is about half that amount. It seems that the fire was undoubtedly caused by a defective flue. Mr. Heimlich returned from Quincy about 8:30 Saturday morning and subsequently went home and built a fire in the furnace, there being no one else in the house at the time. Later he noticed the odor of something burning and opening the hall door found that the hall was filled with smoke and that the upper part of the house seemed to be on fire. Meanwhile someone in the neighborhood had noticed the flames coming through the roof and turned in the alarm to the fire department. The department responded promptly but it was a very difficult task fighting the flames because of the headway they had gained and from the added fact of strong wind which was blowing. It is also always more difficult to combat flames when the weather conditions are very cold. The upper part of the house was almost totally destroyed and the lower floor was damaged by both fire and water. Very little of the contents of the house could be saved. There have been used a flat and were occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Litch, who recently came to Jacksonville from Springfield. Every thing in their apartments were totally destroyed.

MORGAN COUNTY WANTS A JUDGE

It now appears that the contest for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge at the special primary to be held in this district March 24th, will be between ex-County Judge F. E. Baldwin of Morgan county and Hon. Norman L. Jones of Greene county. Both gentlemen are well qualified and it is almost a certainty that one of the two will be elected the successor of Judge Thompson. The district is unquestionably Democratic.

Laying aside the political aspects of the case and the character of the candidates, it is very important to have the Circuit Judge from Morgan county. Morgan county is the third largest in the district and Jacksonville is easier of access from all parts of the district than any other county seat in it.

Next to Sangamon and Macoupin counties, the docket in Morgan county is the largest. By reason of the facilities for reaching Jacksonville and the size of the docket, Morgan county has always been conceded one of the Circuit Judges. It is just as important now as it has ever been to follow this precedent. It will be a convenience to lawyers and litigants in other counties and it is all important to the lawyer and citizens of Morgan county. Appreciating this situation, many prominent Jacksonville business and professional men, irrespective of party affiliation, have endorsed the candidacy of Judge Baldwin and have written to friends in other counties in the district in his behalf.

There are other good reasons for supporting Judge Baldwin's candidacy but the important reason is that successor of Judge Thompson come from Morgan county. Its large docket, geographical location, and the accessibility of Jacksonville from all parts of the district demand it.

Crazy Tricks of Memory.

In later life Emerson's memory played him some strange tricks. James did, his biographer, says that he at him one day in the streets of Boston apparently at a loss for something and asked him where he was going. To dine," said Emerson, "with an old and very dear friend. I know where he lives, but I hope you won't ask me his name." Then he went on to describe her as "the mother of the wife of the young man—the tall man—who speaks so well," and so on until Cabot guessed to whom he was referring. This failing led to a pathetic scene at Longfellow's funeral. After gazing long at the face of his lifelong friend as he lay in his coffin Emerson said to a bystander, "That gentleman was a sweet, beautiful soul, but I have entirely forgotten his name."

An Old Ruse.

The influence of women in Louis XV's day was all powerful. The men, in consequence, feared them. It became the fashion for women to dash about Paris in cabriolets, driving often somewhat rashly, and increased accidents were put down to this cause. Gabriel de Sartines, minister of police, dared not forbid any woman to drive in Paris, so he caused an edict to be issued prohibiting their doing so until they were forty years old. "After this declaration," notes Mrs. Beattie in "A Court Painter and His Circle," "there was not a cabriolet to be seen driven by a woman."

COLD WAVE BRINGS DEATH AND SUFFERING TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—A cold wave brought death and suffering tonight and Chicago's poor shivered in zero temperature. The thermometer fell twenty degrees from noon to midnight and charitable organizations were overwhelmed with appeals.

An agent of the United Charities rescued a family of three which had eaten nothing but raw potatoes for three days.

The coldest weather of the season brought a rush of applications to the county agent's office. That officer called attention of the unusual number of young married persons who have asked for aid. A wholesale grocery firm has donated 36,000 cans of food stuffs to the poor and a coal company today offered 50 pounds of fuel free to deserving persons.

DETAILED ACCOUNT

OF TERRIBLE ERUPTION

Japanese Eruption Costs 80,000

Lives; Typical Volcano Scene.

FIRST DETAILED ACCOUNT OF
JAPAN CATASTROPHE RE-CEIVED.

Tokyo Correspondent of Associated Press Places Loss of Life at "Several Hundreds"—Villages Flooded With Flaming Lava.

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The first detailed account of the terrible eruption of Sakura-Jima on the southern coast of Japan, as received here today by mail from the Tokyo correspondent of The Associated Press places the loss of life, conservatively estimated at "several hundreds."

Not only was the island of Sakura-Jima itself, with its dozen villages flooded by a torrent of flaming lava and buried under a hail of incandescent rocks, but the city of Kagoshima, overlooking the Golden Gate of Japan, was partially destroyed, several towns and villages on the mainland to the east were sore
hit and the villages of Akamidzu, Yokoyama and Koike, were literally swallowed up by the molten lava.
Until they are dug out no specific count of lives lost ever will be possible. The account follows:

"While a Tokyo audience of Japanese was assembled at the Imperial Theatre, viewing moving pictures of the last days of Pompeii, the subterranean fires of their own empire,
imprisoned for more than a century,
were surging upward beneath the island of Sakura-Jima. In the southernmost part of the realm. Soon began an eruption so fierce and terrible as to take place at once with the historic demonstration of Vesu-vius. The 22,000 inhabitants of Sakura-Jima fled wildly in all directions in a pitiful quest for food and shelter. Shrieks of terror filled the air from one end of the island to the other. From thickly settled villages and from houses the farmers ran to the shores of the bay.

"Horses neighed and snorted in terror and all manner of domestic cattle bellowed and cried to be let loose. Many freed themselves and began a wild stampede through and over their human companions.

"Many old men refused to try to save themselves and had literally to be dragged along by the younger. Women and children were sent off first, the women carrying their infants slung Japanese fashion across their backs, their hands filled with portable household goods. Some shielded themselves with mattresses,
others wore metal and earthen pots
for helmets.

Were Preliminary Warnings.

"For all that the catastrophe was so overwhelming in its sudden decent there had been preliminary warnings. Two months before a traveler reclining leisurely on the summit of the long mountain ridge of Yoshinogahara was surprised to see smoke drifting from near gullies
in the sides of the open peak of Miake, on Sakura-Jima.

"The next warning came Sunday, January 11th, in the form of severe earthquakes, accompanied by respondent deep cannonading from the heights of Sakura-Jima. With increasing violence came shock after shock. Houses toppled, brick walls crumbled and from far beneath rose a sound of grinding and roaring.

"Monday morning dawn changed to twilight. A great shower of ashes rained on the panic-stricken population. The ashes became flowing cinders and the cinders flaming rocks.

"Volcanoes long supposed extant
in other portions of the realm leaped like sympathetic action and ashes fell like snow as far north as the cities of Osaka and Kobe, as far south as the Bonin Islands and as far west as Dairen, while the air was weighted with sulphurous fumes. Tokyo itself, was mantled in a sinister, yellow cloud, carrying terror to the masses.

Set Fire to Forests.

"By this time the cascades of lava and the ceaseless merciless rain of meteors had set fire to the sugar cane and bamboo forests. Houses burst into flame as if from spontaneous combustion at every step.

"Arrived at the shore, the villagers and peasants flung themselves into sampans moored on the beach, or plunged into the gulf. The mountain was now a roaring furnace and the heat was unbearable.

"From Kagoshima a dozen steamers came full speed to the rescue.
Their prompt aid and that of sailing and rowing craft saved thousands from drowning.

"But in the meantime, things were not going well in Kagoshima itself. A strong east wind filled the streets with hot ashes and red hot cinders. Houses began to collapse under the weight or to catch fire from the cinders. There followed a mad rush. Splendid discipline at the railroad station saved the day.
Box freight cars were backed on to the sidings and with remarkable promptness the crowds were carried northward to safety.

"To the westward began a steady flight along the highways. A number of Americans escaped in this direction walking twenty miles through the night.

Warships to the Gulf.

"As soon as the authorities at Tokyo had an inkling of the serious nature of the disaster, a dozen warships were dispatched to the gulf.

"By the thirteenth Kagoshima was virtually vacant. From the island of Sakura-Jima rescue parties took off thirty three islanders. Those that remained were without food.

"For a week the volcano continued intermittently its flow of white hot lava and the bombardment of incandescent cinders. The boldest inhabitants ventured back again and again only to be driven away.

"Some conception of the immensity of the outpouring may be had when it is known that it pushed its way across the Gulf of Kagoshima, which is from forty to eighty fathoms deep to the mainland, converting an island into a peninsula. An official estimate of the damage done gives 50,000 destitute, twelve bridges destroyed and more than 12,- 000 houses either destroyed or so badly damaged that they must be rebuilt.

"This physical damage is for Kagoshima alone. On the island the destruction was entire.

"Sakura-Jima is a waste of pumice and lava naked and desolate."

PARLIAMENT TO REASSEMBLE.

London, Feb. 7.—The session of parliament which will begin on Monday is expected to have a notable place in British history. Scidmore has the political situation been more complicated or the outcome more uncertain. Before the great controversies are reached over the home rule bill and the Welsh disestablishment bill, there is the possibility of a grave crisis in the Liberal party over the navy estimates. There has been a rapid growth in the party in favor of a policy of reduction, and serious differences of opinion in regards to the question are said to exist in the cabinet itself. This is the situation which will first have to be faced by the government after the preliminaries are over in the house of commons.

In addition, Premier Asquith is credited with an intention to present a scheme for the reform of the house of lords in the shape of a series of resolutions which he will ask the house of commons to pass and afterward he will found a bill upon them. The plan is to abolish the hereditary principle altogether, throwing the upper house open to popular election, the same as the commons, but with the voting qualifications based upon a different principle. The house of lords will,
of course, reject the scheme, which,
with Chancellor Lloyd George's land reform proposals will be the main issue at the next general election.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

AT ANNAPOLIS.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 7.—With the customary salutes and flag raising ceremonies, Captain William F.
Fullam today assumed his new duties as superintendent of the United States Naval Academy, succeeding Captain John H. Gibbons, who has been assigned to sea duty. The new superintendent is regarded as one of the most brilliant officers of the navy. When he graduated from the naval academy in 1877 he stood at the head of the class. For more than twenty years he was stationed at the academy as an instructor in different departments and as head of the department of ordnance. It is in the training of enlisted men, however, that Captain Fullam has achieved his most conspicuous success.

It was under his command that the naval training station at Newport attained its present high standard of efficiency. His record there resulted in his assignment as the first commander of the new training station on the great lakes, where his success in the training of the young men who make up the enlisted personnel caused his selection by Secretary Daniels to head the institution for the training of naval officers.

QUICK RELIEF

says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism.
She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she

BOOZE DOES NOT CROWD

KANSAS ASYLUMS AND JAILS

Statistics Show That State Was Well Behaved During Past Year.

According to J. W. Howe, secretary of the state board of control of Kansas, only 15 patients were admitted to the insane asylums of the state by alcohol during 1913. Six additional cases were due to the combined effect of alcohol, tobacco and drugs. This is a percentage of 2.3 per cent, and is a decrease. In New York 31.4 per cent of the insane patients are said to have been received into the asylums as a result of using alcohol, and in Massachusetts the percentage is 39.6 per cent.

The entire number of inmates of the state institutions of Kansas for insane was 3,814, which is about 224 to the hundred thousand of population. In California there are 8,505 insane, which is an average of 354 to each hundred thousand of the population.

Another notable feature of the Kansas report is the fact that only 20 applicants were refused. Many license states are forced to turn away hundreds.

Mr. Howe has also issued figures in regard to the crime of the state during 1913. Less than three percent of the men and women confined in Kansas jails during the year were under 21 years of age. Six Kansas counties—Cheyenne, Grant, Haskell, Morton, Staunton and Wichita—had no prisoners in their county jails during 1913. Scores of other counties have jails that are frequently empty. In Trego county there was but one prisoner in the jail in 1913 and he was a tramp picked up as vagrant. Hodgeman county reports that there has been but one prisoner confined in her county jail in the last twelve years.

"Much of the insanity and criminal tendencies we have to deal with in Kansas today," says Mr. Howe,
"are the inherited results of Kansas' saloon days."

BARRY PLANS FOR A NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.

Maximum Rate Proposed Will Be
Ten Cents—Amount of Needed
Capital Stock Subscribed.

Barry citizens are planning to erect a light plant there and have been getting figures from a University of Illinois expert. The Barry Adage in a recent issue tells about the plan:

"Mayor Beavers went to Urbana, Ill., last Wednesday to consult with the expert electrical engineer at the University of Illinois concerning the cost of an electric light plant, its operation, maintenance, etc., and he learned things that causes him to be more enthusiastic than ever for the installation of a light plant owned either by the municipality or a private corporation. He discussed the question thoroughly with the expert electrical engineer and the latter sent him an estimate of the cost of the plant.

"In figuring on the rates the consumers would have to pay the engineer figured the cost of operation, maintenance, depreciation, interest on capital invested, taxes, insurance and incidental expenses and with all these included, based on the amount of electricity now used in this city, the rates necessary to be charged the consumers would be about half the amount now asked for by the Central Illinois Public Service company.

"The estimate made by the electrical engineer includes a two unit plant to cost about $22,000, and this cost can be reduced considerably by constructing a one unit plant, although a two unit plant would no doubt prove much more satisfactory.

"It is probable that the local company will start the plant on a 10-cent rate, and if the estimate of the expert electrical engineer of the University of Illinois proves to be correct and the amount of electrical current taken by our citizens is as large as they now used, the maximum rate would no doubt be reduced to 8 cents per kilowatt a price that would be only one half the amount asked by the C. I. P. S. Co., as given in the report from Pana,
Ill., which will be found in another column of this paper.

"The estimate received from the electrical engineer of the university has put vim into those interested in the new company and it was said yesterday that the full amount of the proposed capital stock of the company has been subscribed with the assurance from a number of the subscribers that if necessary they would double their subscriptions."

term notes already issued and the ditions.

ILLINOIS MERCHANT RESTORED BY WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY

Friedrich Redeker, After Long Illness, Says He is Gaining Weight.

Friedrich Redeker, a business man of Arlington, Ill., was a victim of stomach and digestive troubles. He went to a hospital for an operation for another trouble. When he recovered from the operation he found his stomach worse and his heart affected.

He took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. He got his appetite back and gained strength right away. He wrote:

"I owe you some words of congratulation for your stomach remedy. I could not eat anything but soft food and the bloating from gas got so bad that at one time I had a fainting spell for three hours. I went to one of your Chicago drug stores and got your remedy. I took the remedy and the next morning was relieved. I have taken seven bottles so far. I am getting stronger and can eat anything that comes along."

Letters like that come from stomach sufferers in all parts of the state; in fact from all over the United States.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucous accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Armstrong's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

FEDERALS SURVIVE ANOTHER CRISIS

TORONTO WILL RETAIN FRANCHISE IN "OUTLAW" LEAGUE

League Magnates Are About Evenly Divided on Question of Proposed Transfer But President Gilmore's Report Swings Majority of Conferees to His Side—Other Sports.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The Federal league survived another crisis today. A protracted executive meeting of its magnates resulted, after a sharp discussion in the announcement that Toronto would retain its franchise, despite the efforts of a considerable faction, led, it was reported, by Charles Weeghman, the Chicago backer, to substitute Cleveland for the Canadian city.

The league was about evenly divided on the question of the transfer but President Gilmore who returned from Toronto this morning gave a report unexpectedly optimistic and swung the rest of the conferees finally to his side. Cleveland's request for the franchise was ably presented by Fred Bramley who showed an option on what was considered a desirable site. But the plea of Gilmore and the evidence shown by Barney Hoptman, the Toronto promoter, that the franchise would be taken care of, convinced the magnates that a change was not desirable.

It was said the magnates of the league at one time approached bitterness in their discussion, but finally it was agreed to submit to the will of the majority.

Routine business the magnates reported kept the meeting in session until late hour tonight. In addition to the Chicago representatives, Gilmore, there were present, Otto Stifel, Edward Steininger and Walter Frisch St. Louis; C. C. Madison and A. F. Gordon, Kansas City; E. E. Gates, Indianapolis; W. E. Kerr, Pittsburgh and Ned Hanlon, Baltimore.

President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals was authority for the statement that the installation of American association teams in Chicago and Cleveland would be one of the steps taken by organized baseball in its war against the Federals. Further information regarding the "war" came from other sources and tended to confirm an earlier story that the "organized" league would refrain from law suits.

Manager Brown of the St. Louis Federals today sent word he had signed Eddie Lennox, an infielder formerly with Brooklyn and the Cubs.

Shreveport, La., Feb. 7.—C. G. Williams, secretary of the Chicago Federal Baseball club, is in Shreveport today inspecting the local training quarters. It is believed that the Chicago team will come here for spring practice.

Naples, Italy, Feb. 7.—The baseball players of the New York club of the National League and the Chicago club of the American League arrived here today from Egypt on board the steamship Prinz Heinrich. They were greeted heartily by the local sporting clubs and the members of the American colony.

Washington, Feb. 7.—St. Paul carried off high score honors this week in the inter-club rifle shooting competition, making 994 out of possible thousand.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—Jay Gould of New York and W. H. T. Huhn, the national court tennis doubles champions, were defeated here today in a special match with J. Crane and G. R. Peering of Boston, by three sets to one.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Fred J. Murphy, Yale 1910, was appointed football coach of Northwestern University today to succeed Dennis Grady. Murphy lives in New York City and has assisted for several years in coaching at Yale. He was field coach in 1911 and has been advisory coach since that time. He will report at Northwestern March 15th. His contract is for three years.

New York, Feb. 7.—Announcement of the spring training plans of the New York American league club was made here today. The advance guard will leave on February 12, when Coach Daley and Pitchers Keating and McHale will leave for St. Louis where they will be joined by Caldwell, Rose, Criss and Schulz, all pitchers. The party will proceed to Hot Springs, Arkansas arriving on Feb. 15.

Manager Frank Chance will leave Los Angeles Feb. 26 going direct to the training camp at Houston, Texas, where all the players have been ordered to report not later than March 1.

INVASION OF STATE RIGHTS. Washington, Feb. 7.—Federal regulation of stock exchanges as proposed in the Owen bill under consideration by the senate banking and currency committee is a tidal invasion of state rights in the opinion of officers of the consolidated stock exchange of New York who appeared today before the committee.

"The bill," declared Hjalmar H. Boyesen, counsel for the consolidated exchange, "seeks to do through postal and other regulations what congress has no authority to do directly and constitutes the most radical invasion of state rights with which I am familiar."

GUilty OF MANSLAUGHTER. Purvis, Miss., Feb. 7.—The Rev. Daniel Grantham, pastor of a Baptist church here, today was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in prison. He was convicted of killing George Burkhalter in a quarrel growing out of an alleged feud between the Grantham and Burkhalter families.

SAW BIG TREES.

In Friday morning's Journal, February 6, Mr. George L. Thorpe of Ukiah, Cal., writes an interesting letter in which he states the sizes of the largest trees in California. While he was visiting recently in Dumas Ark., just forty miles south east of Pine Bluffs in the Mississippi valley about twenty-eight miles from the river, he had the privilege of seeing and measuring large trees. Among the largest was a cypress tree measuring ten feet in diameter and thirty feet in circumference. The year previous he visited a saw mill and there was a log of oak measuring six feet in diameter. This section of Arkansas shows miles and miles of heavy timber intersected by cotton fields, which yield from one half to one acre of cotton per acre. Corn also has a profitable yield. The very best sweet potatoes, called Yellow Yams are grown here. Truck farmers had planted peas, cabbage, etc., in the middle of January. The mild plum trees were in full bloom. The climate and drinking water are ideal. On the 20th day of January the thermometer registered 76 degrees.

CONSERVATORY NOTES.

The Midwinter concert, which was to be given on February 20th, has been postponed. The difficulties of presenting such a large work as Mendelssohn's "Elijah" are so great that it has been deemed expedient to hold more rehearsals. The exact date for the concert has not yet been decided, but it will probably come in the first week of April. Last Thursday evening an extra rehearsal was held, and the regular rehearsal will take place as usual next Monday evening at seven.

Dean Cochran played a violin solo "Kol Nidrei" of Bruch, at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening at Academy hall.

Helen Sorrells played a violin solo at the entertainment given at the Jacksonville high school Thursday evening, Feb. 5th.

A students' recital was given Friday evening, Feb. 6th at 8 o'clock in Recital hall. It was quite well attended, considering the unfavorable weather conditions, and every number passed off smoothly and creditably. The following program was given:

Earl Briscoe played a violin solo at the high school Thursday evening, February 5th.

Rebecca Scheibel sang a solo at the chapel services last Thursday morning, the day of prayer for colleges, an Ave Maria by Mascagni, with a violin obligato played by Nathalia Jensen.

Flora Cox sang "The Radnor Cross," by Cuse, at the Y. W. C. A. meeting in Academy hall Thursday evening.

SHOULD NOT TREAT SOLDIERS TOO HARSHLY

GENERAL WOOD ADMONISHES
ARMY OFFICERS.

Chief of Staff Asserts That Much of Discontent in Service is Incident to Method of Dealing With Enlisted Men.

Washington, Feb. 7.—An admonition to army officers to refrain from harsh treatment of the enlisted men is contained in a memorandum directed by General Wood, chief of staff to the adjutant general today for transmission to the army. Such promising results have followed the moderation in treatment of military prisoners General Wood states, that it is felt that an extension of the idea might be beneficial.

"It is believed that much of the discontent in the service today is incident to the method of dealing with enlisted men," the note says, "that the results of this method are not satisfactory even from the standpoint of discipline and that better results could be accomplished if every officer, in his relations with the men under his command should always have in mind the control of the men without the destruction of their self respect."

"Many young officers who are entrusted with the command of men have had absolutely no previous experience and have not been sufficiently imbued with the tremendous importance of the portion of their duties which concerns their relations with enlisted men they often feel that it is necessary to adopt a tone of voice or a manner with dealing with them which is quite different from that which they usually employ and only too frequently they seek to accomplish through public rebuke what could be more efficiently accomplished through a private talk with the subordinate himself. This fault is not entirely limited to officers new in the service but is unfortunately found at times in others of more experience and it is desired that every effort be made to eradicate it."

DIETZ MURDER CASE TO COME TO TRIAL IN CHICAGO

Wife of Murdered Man and George Nurnberg Will Have Hearing in Judge Kersten's Court To Answer
Charges Against Them.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Mysteries of an unusual character remain to be solved in the case of the murder of George Dietz, for whose death Mrs. Augusta Dietz, widow of the slain man, and her friend, George Nurnberg, will be placed on trial before Judge Kersten on Monday.

Dietz, 39 years old, owner of a woman's tailoring establishment, and reputed to be a man of wealth, was found murdered at his home, at 773 Aldine avenue, on April 14, 1913. Following the discovery of the murder a mass of bewildering facts was brought to light from day to day. Some of the conjectures raised seemed almost beyond belief, so melodramatic, so out of the ordinary were they.

The skull of the murdered man had been crushed and he is believed to have been beaten to death with a mason's hammer which was found in the room. The handle of the hammer had been wrapped in such a way that the murderer could keep a firm grasp. In addition to the hammer a letter was found in the room indicating that revenge was the motive for the crime.

On the night of the crime Mrs. Dietz occupied a bedroom adjoining that of her husband. When questioned by the police she said the first she knew of the murder was when she went to waken her husband.

The letter found in the room was unsigned, written on a typewriter, on yellow paper and was ungrammatical to a degree that led the police to suspect that this feature of the crime had been planned to confuse investigators. It read in part as follows:

"I feel like a man that do right. I kill him like we kill wild beast. Gerly tele me all when she was sick. I work hard and he is rich man. He steal my little girl. Poor girly she is not bad she is foolish and like good clothes he gave her. He not think she tele me. These I writ if I get killed young friend not done it. I not give name. If I get chance to kill old pig we all saved."

The police at first worked on the theory that revenge was the motive for the crime and that either the father or the sweetheart of some girl committed the murder. Mrs. Dietz was taken into custody and questioned. She told the police that she knew nothing of the circumstances mentioned in the letter.

Lack of evidence of a forced entrance to the Dietz home as well as rumors of a quarrel between Dietz and his wife and of friendly relations between Mrs. Dietz and George Nurnberg, a harness maker, first directed suspicion against the accused. The testimony before the coroner's jury, by Mrs. Dietz, Nurnberg and Charles Hass, a private detective who revealed to the police the friendship of Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg, was highly sensational.

How a suspicious wife, Mrs. Nurnberg, had telephone wires tapped, intercepted letters and her husband trailed, was revealed in the testimony of Hass, the private detective. The friendship between Mrs. Dietz and Nurnberg charged by Hass was later admitted as true by Nurnberg, under close cross questioning by the coroner. Mrs. Dietz, however, has denied the alleged relations with Nurnberg, despite the testimony of detectives that she had been in the habit of meeting the harness maker in a certain house on Ontario street.

The evidence of the detectives, it is said, had been revealed to Dietz a short time before his death and it is the general belief that the prosecution will endeavor to prove that the husband was murdered to prevent his taking action to obtain a divorce.

There is much speculation as to whether an effort will be made to prove that the wife was the real slayer of her husband. Physicians who testified before the coroner's jury expressed the opinion that great strength would not be required to wield the hammer with which Dietz was killed. Mrs. Dietz is a large powerful built woman.

So far as is known there is no evidence to connect Nurnberg with any physical action in the murder. Mrs. Nurnberg stated before the coroner's jury and will probably give the same testimony at the trial, that she occupied the same room with her husband throughout the night on which the murder was committed. The hammer is expected to figure conspicuously in the evidence at the trial. While ordinarily spoken of as a mason's hammer, it is said that the same style of implement is commonly used by harness makers in hammering out the inside of heavy work harness collars.

The hammer found in Dietz's room bore the name of the manufacturer. Whether the police have succeeded in tracing the implement to the retail dealer and thence to the purchaser has not been disclosed. Bloody finger prints were found on the handkerchief and on the handle of the hammer and it is possible that an effort will be made to use these as a medium through which to establish the identity of the slayer.

WILL PRESIDE IN MORGAN COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT.

Acting upon the request of Judge Creighton and Judge Shriver, the supreme court has appointed Judge Cook of Beardstown to preside in the Morgan county circuit court. It is understood that the first court session will begin Monday, Feb. 16th and continue through Tuesday. Various matters pressing for settlement will be brought up at that time. Probably Judge Cook will arrange later to spend whatever time is necessary for clearing up the docket.

"KATHLYN" COST FORTUNE TO GIVE TO PUBLIC

Famous Writer of Fiction Is Author of Adventures Which Tell How Pretty Girl Is Trapped to India
By Fake Letter and Forced To Trone.

In "The Adventures of Kathlyn," written by Harold MacGrath, the man who wrote "The Man on the Box," and "The Carpet of Bagdad," the Chicago Tribune offers today the ten strike in serial story features. This is the biggest thing that has ever been done in this line in the history of newspaper features, for it cost $140,000 to produce the story and the moving pictures.

The gigantic proposition was put over by the co-operation of the St. Louis Times, the Chicago Tribune and the New York Sun. Harold MacGrath, one of the best known writers of fiction, was engaged to write the story and was paid $20,000 when the manuscript was turned over to the newspapers.

Then "the punch" was put in the idea, as they say in playwriting circles. The Selig Polyscope company was engaged to film a photoplay from a scenario taken from the novel. Kathlyn Williams, the star of that company's acting forces, assumed the lead—that of a girl lured to India by a Hindu with the tale that her father, an animal hunter, is in prison and only she can save him by bringing certain papers from their home in California.

Bound by the Natives. You will read how she was bound by fanatical natives on the top of a giant funeral pyre with the flames creeping ever nearer her helpless form. You will see her tied with thongs in a tiger trap as human bait for the blood thirsty beasts of the jungle. You will read of her swimming for her life to escape a maddened water-buffalo in the black waters of the Bengal river. Time after time, in scene after scene, this actress takes her life in her hands and walks grimly up to the very jaws of death in order to portray with life-like realism the actual adventures of MacGrath's heroine.

You will read of the Council of Three, in the royal palace of Allaha, where she is crowned the unwilling queen of a wild race of people in the midst of the jungles of India. There is nothing of the "problem" story or the "historical novel" in this great piece of fiction. It doesn't load your mind with abstruse theories or intricate analysis. It is just a story—nothing more—but a story so wholesome, so natural, so true to the best impulses of the human heart—so filled with the spirit of wild adventure and love and intrigue—that when you once start it you simply can't lay it aside.

Heart of Elephants in Play. Only an establishment having the facilities of the Selig Polyscope company would attempt a production of such magnitude, unsurpassed in spectacular magnificence, unique and exacting in its demands upon dramatic artists, and involving the service of no less than 40 African lions, a herd of elephants, leopards, tigers and many other beasts of the desert and the jungle.

Many of the scenes, showing the wonderful architecture and invested with the actual atmosphere of the orient, were taken in India, indicating how carefully studied this production was in its inception and in its carrying out.

This play for the first time shows many interesting sacred rites performing in the lands of the Parsee, heretofore absolutely prohibited to foreigners, much less to be transferred to the flying film. The close-up scenes of the burning gates of Benares and similar rare ones can be cited in substantiation of these facts.

Scenes of the Durbar, enlisting a herd of elephants, camels, elaborately panoplied, with real Indian mahouts and camel drivers, as well as a large company of actors, led by Hurl Chand, who is said to be the foremost Thespian of India, gives realism in remarkable richness to make these royal festival proceedings rarely impressive. Costumes for these particular scenes cost $25,000.

The Selig zoo at Eastlake Park, in Los Angeles (which has the largest collection of wild animals owned by any individual, barring the Hagenbeck collection at Stellingen, near Hamburg, Germany) comprises the largest collection of carnivora—45 lions, 6 leopards, 6 tigers, 10 elephants, a pair of giraffes a drove of camels and many other specimens too numerous to mention—furnish the habitants of jungle lane in variety in the very surroundings to which they have been accustomed.

Kathlyn Williams the intrepid and beautiful leading lady of the Selig Stock company, in Los Angeles, is the heroine of this series of plays, and has willingly submitted to nerve racking ordeals and trying experiences to add new chapters of realism to the volume her bravery and resourcefulness has already written in the imperishable art of the film. It would seem that many new lines of ingenuity have been conjured to make stunning scenes and sensational situations in this new realm of realism, as invested in "The Adventures of Kathlyn" has had a showing. The record of the week has been a continual capacity. "The Adventures of Kathlyn" has established a new record in newspaper features, and only in the St. Louis Times can you keep pace with the events of the photo play.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL.

Rev. N. R. Johnson of Island Grove passed through the city yesterday on his way home from Barry where he has been assisting in revival services for some time. It was the place in which he was reared and his work there was quite effective, ninety conversions being reported during the meeting and 31 the past week during the ministrations of Mr. Johnson.

CAESAR AS AN EPILEPTIC.

Glimpses of the Famous Conqueror That Are Not Inspiring.

Says Mark Antony, who had evidently seen the great Caesar in convulsions: "When the fit was on I marked how he did shake; 'tis true this god did shake." Again: "Ye gods, it doth amaze me a man of such a feeble temper should so get the start of the majestic world and bear the palm alone."

We would hardly recommend horse-back riding to an epileptic, "but by dint of perseverance," says the historian Oplius, "Caesar became an expert horseman, often dictating to two or three secretaries at once while in the saddle, and rode without using his hands." We have had a somewhat similar experience in our own practice, where the patient, unlike Caesar, gave up epilepsy while continuing as a horse trainer.

When Caesar came to unbridge rivers during his campaigns he swam across them, sometimes helped by inflated bladders, but usually unaided. Once, having a seizure in the water, he cried out, you remember: "Help me, Cassius, or I perish."

He explored personally and afoot, conquered cities, accompanied by way of precaution by but one or two servants—an admirable precaution for epileptics when at all possible.

He needed to be careful. If he had lived in the gluttonous days of Caligula or Nero and had to any extent indulged in their dietary excesses, he never would have crossed the Rubicon nor effected the important victory over Pompey the Great at Pharsalia, and the protests of his nervous system in the way of convulsions would have been more numerous.

He paid the strictest attention to his hair, although he had so little of it. Like the rest of the baldheaded world over, he allowed this occipital fringe to grow long, and boldly combed it forward, like a vine over a blank wall, in the vain hope of concealing his cranial nakedness—the touch of nature that makes the whole bad world kin.—Dr. Matthew Woods in Neale's Monthly.

FOOD TABOOS IN ALASKA.

Queer Dietary Rules That Are Part of the Eskimo Religion.

To illustrate one of the phases of the native religion of the Eskimos, we may consider the question of food taboos. In the mountains of Alaska, on the upper Kuyuk and Nootak rivers, and on the headwaters of the Colville, the prohibitions which applied to the eating of the flesh of the mountain sheep alone were as extensive as the entire dietary section of the Mosiac law.

A young girl, for instance, might eat only certain ribs, and when she was a little older she might eat certain other ribs, but when she was full grown she would for a time have to abstain from eating the ribs which had been allowed to her up to then.

After a woman had had her first child she might eat certain other ribs, after her second child still others, and only after having had five children might she eat all the ribs; but even then she must not eat the membranes on the inside of the ribs. If her child was sick she must not eat certain ribs, and if two of her children were sick she might not eat certain other ribs. If her brother's child was sick she might not eat certain parts, and if her brother's wife died there were still different prohibitions.

The taboos applying to the ribs of sheep had relation to the health of her children and of her relatives. They also depended upon what animals her relatives or herself had killed recently and on whether those animals were male or female.—V. Stefansson in Harper's Magazine.

Old Viking Funerals.

A Viking ship was often of large proportions, and it was seldom or never allowed to rot or to be broken up. Having been useful in the arts of war, it served quite another purpose in the arts of peace. When a chief died his body was reverently placed in the stern of the vessel and a torch applied to the hold. The man's kinsfolk and friends watched the flames grow bigger and brighter as the huge ship, with set sail, plowed its way through the water for the last time until corpse and ship disappeared under the waves.

What's the Answer?

What gives us our sense of loathing for the garden toad, demurely useful little neighbor that he has proved himself, while his second cousin, the frog, who seems to do nothing but play the dandy and the braggart, is uniformly treated as a good fellow? If the toad gulped and croaked all night long and made his home in slimy pools instead of in the meadow patch, would they reverse their present order in our esteem?—Atlantic.

New Dishes.

What new dishes have you had since you have had your new French cook? asked Mrs. Squire of a friend whom she met one morning.

"Oh, a whole new dinner set," replied the other, "and several pieces of cut glass, and she's only been with us about a week."—Harper's Magazine.

Not Impressed.

"I know no north, no south, no east, no west," declared the first great orator.

"You are also just as badly mixed in several other respects," commented an old farmer in the audience. Pittsburg Post.

STRAY TOPICS FROM OLD NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 7.—As Mr. Martin might say, "What has become of the old fashioned woman who used to stay at home and tend to her knitting?" She certainly is hard to find in these days, when women are making their influence felt in every line of human activity. A generation ago it would have created something of a sensation for a woman to speak at a banquet of business men. Now a little or no attention is attracted by the announcement that Mrs. J. Borden Harriman is to be the leading speaker at the dinner of the National Retail Dry Goods association at the Hotel Astor next Tuesday night. Few persons, either men or women, are better informed than Mrs. Harriman on the broad subject of the relations between employer and employee. President Wilson recognized this fact when he appointed her as a member of the national committee on industrial relations.

It is to be regretted that the state cannot have the services of Frank Moss in the present graft investigation and prosecutions that may follow. Mr. Moss, who has just resigned his position on District Attorney Whitman's staff to return to his private practice, is the ablest graft prosecutor in New York. William Travers Jerome not excepted. His experience along this line dates back to the days of the old Lexow committee, when he was the right-hand man of the Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst. It was Mr. Moss who collected the evidence to prove that vice was protected by the police. He also led many rambling raids under the auspices of the committee of fifteen, which led to the overthrow of Tammany and the election of Seth Low and District Attorney Jerome in 1901. During the past few years, as Mr. Whitman's assistant, Mr. Moss has prosecuted some of the most important criminal trials in the history of the country. Among these was the trial of Lieut. Charles Becker and the four gunmen for the murder of Herman Rosenthal the gambler.

In New York city there are between 60,000 and 10,000 homeless men and women who find shelter on winter nights either in rear rooms of saloons or in lodging houses where liquors are sold, according to a report on the conditions for the care of the homeless in this city that has just been made public by State Excise Commissioner Farley. Whether the accommodations provided by public charity or by private enterprise as a matter of speculation, says the report, but when there is an unusually bitter cold night in winter, actual conditions confront theory with the fact that the homeless overflow the places of refuge provided and crowd the saloons of the congested districts. Superintendents in charge of several missions on the lower East Side told the agents of the excise department that they believed the saloons did a great deal of good in allowing the homeless to occupy their rear rooms because, as one of the superintendents said, on nights in bad weather it was practically impossible to obtain lodging at the cheap lodging houses, which are filled early. The committee of fifty, headed by Seth Low, which investigated these conditions, reported as follows: "As yet, adequate substitutes for the social benefits which thousands of people derive daily from the saloons have not yet been developed. It is to this problem that the experience, the wisdom and the wealth of those interested in social progress must be directed."

The serious illness of Marcus Mayer has brought forth many expressions of sympathy from members of the theatrical profession, particularly the older members. Mr. Mayer is the oldest survivor of a famous group of theatrical managers and impresarios that flourished along in the early '80s and which included Henry E. Abbey, Augustin Daly, A. M. Palmer and the Graus. Mr. Mayer's first venture as a manager was the starring of Julia Dean Hayne, which was a success. Then followed a season with the younger Kean, after which he successfully directed the tours of the world renowned celebrities, Lady Don, wife of Sir William Don, said to be the most beautiful woman of her time; Edwin Booth, the great tragedian; Lawrence Barrett, Edwin Adams, Adelaide Neilson, Rose Eytinger, Jane Hading, Charlotte Cushman, Sarah Barnhardt, Sir Henry Irving, M. Coquelin, Monet-Sully, Mary Anderson and Adeline Patti for whom he managed three tours, one to South America and Mexico. While in South America Mme. Patti was paid $5,000 in gold by Mr. Mayer for each appearance. They came a tour of the far east with Sarah Barnhardt, playing engagements in Egypt and India followed by tours of the principal cities of Europe. He was with Mme. Barnhardt when she played before the czar and imperial family at St. Petersburg, and has a magnificent diamond ring as a souvenir of the occasion. Mr. Mayer in later years brought many European artists to America, also introducing many Americans to the European public, and holds the record for transatlantic voyages, having crossed the Atlantic on an probably 150 times, which, with several trips in Australia, South Africa, Japan and China and two other world journeys, ranks him up with the most famous globe trotters.

In publishing circles in the city the present week has been recalled as the centenary of the birth of George P. Putnam, who probably is entitled to be called the first great American book publisher. Mr. Putnam was born in Brunswick, Me. He was a boy of 14 when he came to New York and obtained a position as a clerk in a book store. He began at that time a compilation of dates, at first for his own benefit. As time went on he found that the collection might be published and it was issued as a "Chronology" when he was 19 years old. The title afterward, under which it became well known, was "The World's Progress." After several years Putnam entered the employ of the publisher and bookseller, John Wiley, and at the age of 26 he became a partner in the house. Meanwhile he had traveled in England for his employer and again he went to London, where he established a branch of the firm. While he was in London he published the "American Book-seller," and he compiled a work called "American Facts," which was published as an answer to Charles Dickens' "American Notes." At 34 Putnam returned to America and went into business for himself in New York. His most important enterprise was undertaken soon afterward, namely, the publication of Washington Irving's works. It proved a successful venture and he subsequently published the works of James Fenimore Cooper, Edgar Allen Poe, Bayard Taylor, James Russell Lowell, William Cullen Bryant and others.

Improvements in the braking of heavy passenger cars, the importance of which can scarcely be overestimated, will be described at a meeting to be held by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at its headquarters in this city next Tuesday evening. The tests to be described were conducted recently by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in co-operation with the Westinghouse Air Brake Company. A train of 17 steel cars running at 60 miles an hour stores up 224,000,000 foot pounds of energy. This is sufficient to raise the entire train 120 feet. With prevailing brake equipment such a train would be stopped by an emergency application in a distance of 1600 and 2200 feet, according to the truck rigging and brake shoe design. The recent tests showed that this distance has actually been reduced to 1,000 feet, or to within the length of the train. This was the result of improvements in the truck brake design involving the clasp brake, having two shoes per wheel, and the location of the brake shoes with reference to the horizontal center line of the wheels, in addition to improved methods of applying the air brakes quickly and simultaneously and at a high pressure. Trains of 15 years ago were stopped in about half the distance prevailing in the practice of today. Increased size and weight of equipment brought an entirely new brake problem. The recent tests seemingly have gone a long way toward solving this problem and at the same time have contributed materially to the safety of the traveling public.

CONSIDER THE CAT.

The Only Animal Man Has Never Been Able to Conquer.

There is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast became the slave of man or else fled far from human habitation. One and one only refused to flee or to submit.

The horse, the dog, the cow, the sheep, the goat, the pig—all came into camp thousands of years ago. They have ever since worked for man or fed him, or both. They have been his unquestioned and unquestioning slaves. The elephant, too, has become a servant as have other jungle lords.

The lion, the tiger, the wolf, the bear, and such other savage beasts as have not yielded service to man have slunk away in terror from the path of civilization, and are killed on sight.

But one single animal claims man's protection, shares his food and hearth, wanders at will and unmolested through human haunts, and does absolutely no work in return; obeys no orders, and does not even serve as food or clothing.

This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat.

Think it over. The cat will not work. It will not guard your home. Its flesh and fur serve no use. Its one useful act is the catching of mice and rats. And these it slays and eats because it wants to; not to help out its owner. For example, it does not bring its captured prey to its owner to eat. Nor will it hunt rodents unless it happens to feel like doing so.

The cat won't work. It won't even learn tricks unless it happens to want to. And no one can punish or torture it into learning any trick it doesn't want to learn.

That is why there are almost no tricks in animal shows and why the few that are there do such very simple tricks. A dog can be tortured into doing tricks. A cat can't.

When some animals became man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. It simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer, and refused to do one lick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will fawn on you. Beat a cat and it will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.—New York World.

English Weights and Measures.

Other things besides fish have their own peculiar measures. Gunpowder, raisins and butter are sold by the barrel, but the weight varies. A barrel of powder weighs 100 pounds, of raisins 112 pounds, of butter 224 pounds. You can also buy butter by the firkin of fifty-six pounds, while a firkin of soft soap is sixty-three pounds. "Stones" are not always the same. A stone of glass is five pounds; a "tenonary stone" is eight pounds, the "legal stone" fourteen pounds. A "fodder of lead" depends upon where you buy it. In London or Hull you will get only nineteen and a half hundredweight, in Newcastle they will give you twenty-one and a half hundredweight and in Derby twenty-two and a half.—London Globe.

Look For the Pearls.

Do you know that perhaps within a stone's throw of your suburban home pearls may be found. Sara Savage Miller has an article in Suburban Life on "Fresh Water Pearl Fishing." She says that almost every stream and pond throughout the United States contains one or more varieties of mussels in which pearls are found and tells of a carpenter of Paterson, N. J., who found a magnificent pink pearl weighing ninety-three grains in the waters of Notch Brook. It was bought by Tiffany & Co. for $1,500 and later was sold to the Empress Eugenie. Since then it has been known as the famous Queen pearl.

He That Keeps His Lawn Well.

Show me the man whose lawn is in good condition year by year and I will show you one whose wife did well to get him.

For let me tell you, friends and fellow travelers to the tomb, there are more sticks and bones, clothespins and crooked wires upon a lawn, Horatio, than are dreamt of in our philosophy. And he that cheerfully endures the slams upon the bread basket that the lawn mower hands him when its cutters clog possesses more than Christian fortitude—it mounts up to fifty-thus—Engene Wood in Everybody's Magazine.

Locating the Bar.

A grumpy looking stranger entered a hotel. "Where's the bar?" he asked of Pat, who was standing at the door. "What kind of bar?" asked the latter.

"Why, refreshment bar, of course! What do you suppose I mean?"

"Well," drawled Pat, with a twinkle, "I didn't know but you might mean a bar of soap."—London Answers.

Keep Tennis Balls Dry.

Tennis balls can be preserved in usable shape for an indefinite length of time if they are kept absolutely dry. They lose their resiliency and become "dead" before they are worn out for the reason that dampness decomposes the rubber.—Popular Mechanics.

The Hard Knocks.

"This old world at best is only an anvil and life a sort of Plutonian blacksmith, that, with varying blows, strikes us into form. The blow that hurts us most may shape us best."

MODERN GARAGE - - EAST COURT STREET

BECAUSE of Jacksonville week and the desire of every loyal merchant to prove to all comers that this is the city and now is the time and because the season now is so far advanced we'll soon be getting in the Spring goods, we make these final offers.

Remant Bargains

Our recent sales left us with a great many short lengths of high grade woollens on hand. Some of these pieces will only make up into trousers up to 30-32, while in others there is enough cloth for a pair of trousers of the ordinary run of sizes. In other pieces there is but sufficient for one ordinary suit or for coat and trousers.

Now is your chance to pick up something really fine at a very low price, and have a garment made up in style to suit you and afford you lasting satisfaction. Give us an early call and look over our stock.

Trousers Free

An extra pair of trousers with a suit is almost a necessity, even when you pay for them, but when you get them for nothing you should accept the chance.

No matter what pattern you select, if you order a suit from it, we will make you a present of an extra pair of trousers from the same piece or from another, as you may select.

This is a straight forward, honest offer, made in the interest of getting our clothing and our manner of doing business better known in the community.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES.

Much interest centers in the lectures to be given by Mr. Griggs on Monday at 3 o'clock and night, Feb. 9. The afternoon subject will be "The meaning and function of sculpture and painting," and the evening subject will be "Art for life's sake." Announcement regarding price for seats will be found in the regular advertisements in other columns. Rev. Mr. Thrapp, former pastor of the Central Christian church, now pastor of the First Christian church in Los Angeles, says that Mr. Griggs is without doubt one of the best informed men in this line of work in the country. He had heard fifteen of the series of eighteen lectures which Mr. Griggs had given at one chautauqua and was greatly disappointed to be unable to hear the other three. A number of new courses have been offered in the college and academy the second semester. In the home economics department quite a number of young girls are taking advantage of the special courses of ten lessons, which are just beginning. These classes meet Saturday mornings, and are under the supervision of the department heads. These classes also give the 1914 graduates an opportunity to do actual teaching work under proper supervision. The Artists' course for the coming year will have some exceptions.

ally strong talent. The committee is in correspondence with the bureau that has charge of Dr. Wiley, formerly with the department of agriculture. Dr. Wiley's dates are not yet announced for the fall, but as soon as they are announced the committee will secure one of them. This is an opportunity for the people of Jacksonville to hear a man who is doing more for the cause of pure food than almost any other person in America. The day of prayer was most fittingly observed Thursday. The regular class and faculty prayer meetings took place as announced and at 10:30 the sermon of the day was given by Bishop Shephard of Kansas City. At 2 o'clock the students and faculty assembled in chapel, where the afternoon services were held, at which time the Service Circle was organized. This is an organization which has for its aim the promotion for all kinds of religious activities, and includes in its scope, such organizations as the Home Mission Circle, Foreign Mission Circle and the Social Settlement Circle. The student government was adopted at a mass meeting held by the resident students Friday night. The rules and regulations of this organization will be announced later. This form of government is one that is used in nearly all of the leading colleges for women in the country and has proved to be successful in every way. Among the out of town guests of the college for the day of prayer were Dr. Horace Reed of Decatur, field agent for the Illinois vigilance committee, and Dr. A. C. Piersel of Springfield.

CANADIAN SNOWSHOE CARNAVAL. Montreal, Que., Feb. 7.—Hundreds of snowshoeing enthusiasts journeyed to Sherbrooke today for the opening of the annual carnival of the Canadian Snowshoe union. The carnival program covers a period of two days and provides for a torchlight parade, a banquet and other social features, in addition to a series of races ranging in distance from 100 yards to three miles.

George Brown's Acrobatic Dogs. With Kelly Baps, Circus. Grand Opera house, 4 nights, beginning Monday, Feb. 9th. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

YATES GIVES REMINISCENCES OF CULLOM.

Subsequent to the recent death of former Senator Cullom the following from ex-Governor Yates appeared in the Springfield News: "The first time I ever saw Senator Cullom was on a street corner in Washington in 1868—forty-five years ago. The famous likeness of Abraham Lincoln was striking that, although I knew President Lincoln was dead, I was confused for a moment. Mr. Cullom was speaker of the Illinois house of representatives during the civil war, when my father was governor, and I thought those days they were very close friends. "The next time I saw him was when I stood—a boy of 17—in a vast throng out in front of the state house, when Governor Cullom responded to an address delivered on horseback by General McChesney upon the occasion of the installation of the battle flag of the Illinois regiment in the state house. About a year or so after that he came to Jacksonville and I remember how glad he was to my mother, down into the audience to speak to her as she took her seat—an act of courtesy natural to him and which she never forgot. "Followed Cullom Banner. "I was one of the delegates from Morgan county in 1886. That was my first state convention and I followed the banner of Senator Cullom in a desperate battle for the nomination of John R. Tanner for state treasurer. From that time on with the single exception of 1896, when Illinois went for McKinley for president, I felt myself very close to Senator Cullom and have many kind letters from him within the last few years. Of course, I did not know him as such as many citizens of Springfield did. "Sneaky M. Cullom enjoyed and retained the confidence of the people of Illinois, not because he was so potent and indelible, after all, and always energetic, but because the people believed that he was a man and that he had not behind him all opposition to his own self and had lived the life of an ordinary citizen. He was the only man, if I am not mistaken, who was able to be elected senator from Illinois five times in succession. "TAXES TAXES Taxes are now due and payable at the sheriff's office. Bring your last year's receipt or a complete description of your property when making payment. W. E. ROGERS, Sheriff and Collector. ANNOUNCEMENT. I hereby announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge at the primary election to be held March 24, 1914. Francis E. Baldwin.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NOTES.

The address which the Reverend Martin D. Hardin delivered at the chapel exercises on the Day of Prayer, was an unusually forceful one and was greatly appreciated by the students. Dr. Hardin has organized a Sunday Evening Club which promises to be for the west part of the City of Chicago what the club organized by former President Barnes has proved to be for the Michigan avenue district. Dr. Hardin is greatly interested in the social phases of church work. The Reverend LeRoy H. Stafford, who has recently returned from the foreign field, will speak at the chapel exercises next Tuesday morning. George S. Montgomery, ex-'81, has been appointed American Consul at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Mrs. Elmer Black, graduate of the Jacksonville Female Academy, offers two prizes, one of two hundred dollars and the other of one hundred dollars, for the best essays on "International Peace." The competition is open to any undergraduate woman in any American college or university. Mrs. Black was present at the commencement exercises in June and delivered notable address at the reunion of the alumnae. President Rammelkamp will attend the meeting of the Schoolmaster's Club in Decatur on February 13th. He has been invited to take part in the discussion. News came recently of the death of the father of Principal W. L. Harris. Mr. Harris will probably return to his duties early next week. President A. J. Bowen, of Nankang university, China, delivered an interesting address on educational work in China at the chapel exercises on Monday.

WHAT IS VINOL?

About Which We Hear So Much? Our Druggist Tells You. After twenty years of study two eminent French chemists discovered a method by which the alkaloids or medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver could be separated from the useless oil or grease. The oil which has no medicinal value is thrown away, but the healing, curative properties are blended with tonic iron and a mild medicinal wine which makes Vinol, thus combining in one medicine the two most world famed tonics. Vinol is not a secret medicine as its ingredients are printed on every bottle, and in all cases where the healing, curative influence of cod liver oil, or the blood building, strengthening influence of tonic iron is needed Vinol gives immediate benefit, for it is easily assimilated and acceptable to the weakest stomach. For all run-down, weakened conditions, and to cure chronic coughs, colds and bronchial troubles, Vinol is unexcelled. We will return your money if it fails. Lee P. Alcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.—Adv.

WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

RAILROAD STOCKS AGAIN DEVELOP MARKED WEAKNESS

New York Central and Rock Island Securities Forced Down by Persistent Selling
—Otherwise Market Is Dull.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—New York Central and Rock Island securities
again developed marked weakness today. Otherwise the market was dull and apathetic with the same dragging tendency of the previous days of the week. Prices eased off slightly at the opening but the movement was checked quickly and thereafter most of the representative shares were almost stationary.
New York Central was forced down to 90½ by a continuation of the persistent selling which has marked the stock recently. Earlier in the week this stock sold at 96.
The Rock Island securities, once more reached new low points in the history of the company. The common stock fell to 6½ to preferred to 12½ and the collateral 4's to 44.
Canadian Pacific was strong in the early market being influenced by a previous rise in London but later it receded. Steel was again well supported.

Forecasts of the bank statement were far from the mark. Instead of the predicted cash gain of $8, 000,000 there was a loss of more than $3,500,000. Reserve requirements were required, however, by a shrinkage so that there was a nominal increase in surplus.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR

FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Beautify your hair! Make it soft, fluffy and luxuriant—Try the Moist cloth.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—Adv.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!—CASCARET.

Get Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, Mean Liver and Bowels Clogged—Clean up Tonight.

Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—Adv.

FREAKS OF NATURE.

An Uphill Waterfall and a Tree That Squirms Like a Snake.

Nature in the tropics, left to herself, writes John Burroughs, the naturalist, is harsh, aggressive, savage; looks as though she wanted to hang you with her dangling ropes or impale you on her thorns or engulf you in the ranks of her gigantic ferns.

Her mood is never as placid and sane as in the north. There is a tree in the Hawaiian woods that suggests a tree gone mad. It is called the hau tree. It lies down, squirms and wriggles all over the ground like a wounded snake. It gets up and then takes to earth again. Now it wants to be a vine; now it wants to be a tree. It throws somersaults; it makes itself into loops and rings; it rolls; it reaches; it doubles upon itself. Altogether it is the craziest vegetable growth I ever saw.

It was near Pali that I saw what I had never seen or heard of before—a waterfall reversed, going up instead of down. It suggested Stockton's story of negative gravity.

A small brook comes down off the mountain and attempts to make the leap down a high precipice, but the wind catches it and carries it straight up in the air like smoke. It is translated. It becomes a mere wrath hovering about the beetling crag.

Night and day this goes on, the wind snatching from the mountains in this summery way the water it has brought them.—Century Magazine.

THE BASEBALL MASK.

It Was First Used in a Yale-Harvard Game in 1876.

Frederick Winthrop Thayer of Cohasset, Harvard '78, captain of the famous varsity nines of 1876, 1877 and 1878, was the inventor of the catcher's mask. The days when Thayer entered Harvard baseball differed somewhat from the present. A pitcher had to throw underhanded and end his throw with arm stretched out. Then that changed, and as a consequence the ball was thrown much more swiftly. Dr. Harold C. Ernst, a professor in the Medical school, was pitcher on the varsity nine, and James A. Tyng was catcher. They made a wonderful battery.

Thayer noticed that the more freedom given the pitcher the greater became the risk of the catcher. One day he let a few into the secret. He was going to make a mask. A few days before the Yale game of 1876 he came on the field with it. Save for the fact it was made more heavily, it was much similar to the masks in use today.

Thayer attached it to Jim Tyng's head, and from that moment the mask entered baseball. At first the players, other than those in the varsity, and the spectators were inclined to ridicule it, and it caused no end of comment when it was worn by Tyng at the Yale game that year. Harvard won, and two years later team after team adopted the mask.—Boston Herald.

England's Lord Chancellors.

The lord chancellor under the early English kings used to live in the palace and had a regular daily allowance, his wages, as it appeared from one of the records, being 5 shillings, a dinner cake, two seasoned simnels, one sextary of clear wine, one sextary of household wine, one large wax candle and forty small pieces of candle. In the time of Henry II, the modern treasury spirit appears to have begun to walk abroad, for in the records the allowance of 5 shillings appears as if subjected to a reduction. If he dined away from the palace and was thereby forced to provide extras, then indeed he got his 5 shillings. But if he dined at home he was not allowed more than 3 shillings and sixpence.—London Answers.

Cossack Troubadours.

Like the Spaniards, the Cossacks have a class of troubadours who instead of walking from village to village ride on horseback with their gusli and give performances of music and song in front of houses. They are treated with respect and rewarded generously according to their talents. There are also women troubadours among the Cossacks, and their performances in the pleasant surroundings of a garden or in a street scene are impressive.

British Death Duties.

Death duties on property in the British Isles, whether belonging to natives or foreigners, are progressive, ranging upward from 1 per cent on estates of the value of between $500 and $2,500, 2 per cent between $2,500 and $5,000, 3 per cent between $5,000 and $25,000 and 15 per cent on estates of $25,000 and over.

There are also legacy and succession duties, varying in percentage.

Autosuggestion.

"What does autosuggestion mean?" asked Binks. "That's when your wife begins to figure out how much you and your family would save in car fare if you had your own machine," replied Jinks.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

No Escape.

Crawford—If your friends poked fun at you for having the artistic temperament, you must have the laugh on them now that you are so successful. Penfield—Not at all. They sneer at me now for being commercialized.—New York Times.

If thou art a man, admire those who attempt great enterprises, even though they fail.—Seneca.

MINISTERS AND LAYMEN TO MEET

METHODISTS WILL ASSEMBLE IN BEARDSTOWN.

Annual Spring Gathering of Jacksonville District Will Hold Two Days Session, March 4-5—Splendid Program Arranged.

The annual spring meeting of the Jacksonville District of the Methodist church will be held this year at Beardstown, March 4 and 5. This is usually a ministerial meeting, but this year the laymen will not only be included, but will be in the majority. Instead of carrying out the usual program of papers, it will be a two days institute. There will be a Sunday school institute conducted by two experts from the Methodist Board of Sunday Schools, Dr. Trenery and Rev. Arlo A. Brown both of New York City. The second day will be an institute on the New Financial Plan, conducted by two experts from the Commission of Finance, Dr. Trimble and Dr. Crowther of New York City.

The eight districts of the Illinois conference are all co-operating in this plan, and will all hold their meetings the first week in March, and will have similar institutes.

Those who will attend will be the pastors, Sunday school superintendents, and one representative from each board of Stewards. There are 38 pastors, 72 Sunday schools and 79 Boards of Stewards.

J. W. ARNOLD HAS BUILT GREAT BARN ON FARM EAST OF CITY

Structure Cost $4,500 and Provides Quarters for Large Number of Horses—Will Devote Attention to Thoroughbreds.

J. W. Arnold has recently completed what is probably the finest farm barn in Morgan county. The structure is located on his farm just a short distance north of the Arnold & Cain store at Arnold station.

In general dimensions the building is 58 by 116 feet and was built at a cost of about $4,500. The first floor includes 14 box stalls, and 23 single stalls. One drive way runs entirely through the building from north to south and another runs through the center from east to west. These driveways are equipped with gates, which can be used for lotting animals in times of storm, or when snow are in progress. There is space in this way for at least 75 animals. At a point where the driveways corner, near the center of the barn, there is a huge watering tank and water is pumped to supply it by means of a gasoline engine.

Carrier Systems Installed.

Along the west side of the barn for the entire length is a shed, and the roof points to the barn. At north of the building another shed is still to be erected and will provide room for two more spreaders. The manure to be carried to this shed from all parts of the barn by Lowden litter carriers. A like system provides facilities for feeding. Adjoining the barn there are also exercise lots. The second floor of the barn is for hay and grain storage. There are two cribs each of one car capacity, and in the hay room there is ample space for 200 bales.

Will Raise Only Thoroughbreds.

About ten years ago Mr. Arnold laid the foundation for beginning the raising of thoroughbred horses. More recently he strengthened his stock by the purchase of two fillies, two mares, and one two year old stallion from the Corsa farm at a cost of $2,000. Subsequently he purchased from the same farm a mare, and a yearling, at a cost of $1,500.

The building of this splendid barn is to provide living quarters for the thoroughbred animals he has and which he will raise. It is his intention to devote a great deal of time to this department of his business and he will within a year's time be handling nothing in the horse line other than thoroughbreds. He plans to have annual sales as in former years, but the tack offered will be of the highest class. As before suggested the barn is possibly the finest one in the county on a farm and it is certainly a model of convenience.

WILL ESTABLISH OFFICES IN JACKSONVILLE

CENTRAL SERVICE CORPORATION TO MANAGE PLANTS FROM THIS CITY.

Will Consolidate Offices Now Main- tained in Havana and Carrollton —Employment Will be Given to Twenty Five People—Several Families Will Move Here.

The important announcement was made Saturday that headquarters for the Central Illinois Public Service Corporation will soon be opened in Jacksonville. W. J. Spaulding who is in charge of the District of five at Carrollton was in the city Saturday in conference with Mr. Gillman, also an employee of the company who has been here for several days looking over the ground.

The opening of the offices here will mean that about 25 persons will be given employment and that in consequence a number of new families will come to the city to live. The office force will include accountants, stenographers, stenographers, linemen and others. It has not been determined yet in what building the offices will be and one purpose of Mr. Spaulding's visit yesterday was to look over possible locations. It is necessary to have 3 or 4 large rooms which connect.

Three Organizations Cover State.

The Central Illinois Public Service Corporation is one of the three organizations of like kind which have acquired a large portion of the electric light plants all over the state south of Chicago. The three organizations are the Northern, the Central and the Southern Illinois Public Service Corporations. They are all understood to be subsidiary to the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago. Just what area is covered or controlled by the Central Illinois Company can not positively be stated, but it embraces a strip across the state at about the central portion and the company is now lighting 80 or more cities and towns. The company has a great central plant at Kincaid, which is not far from Taylorville, and there develops current equal to 40,000 horse power. This product is sold in a wide area.

May Enlarge Beardstown Plant.

There was an intimation several months ago that another central plant would be established somewhere adjacent to the Illinois river. More recently however it is understood that this plan has been temporarily abandoned and that instead the Beardstown plant was greatly enlarged. The current is now being taken from the Beardstown plant for Meredosia, Bluffs, Pearl and Hillview, and some other towns. It is possible too, that still further enlargements may be made at Beardstown.

Will Consolidate Offices.

The purpose of opening headquarters or offices in Jacksonville is said to be a move looking toward economy of operation. The corporation now has headquarters at Havana in the Northern part of the district and offices at Carrollton in the Southern part and the plan is to consolidate these two offices and this city was chosen because it is centrally located. It was found that officers and employees of the corporation could readily reach various plants the company owns from the city and that good rail and telephone connections could also be had. By handling all of the business from a central office it is estimated that a very considerable saving can be made by lessening the number of employees and that the business can also be handled in a more speedy and satisfactory way.

MAY BUILD ICE PLANT.

It is understood that W. B. Miser and other officers of the Illinois Traction Co., are planning to erect an ice plant in Jacksonville. The intention is to erect the building adjacent to the plant of the Jacksonville Railway & Light company and thus make use of exhaust steam. A favorable power rate can be secured and ammonia, another factor in ice manufacture is a by-product of the gas plant. Altogether the ice business would fit in nicely with the other plant and could be operated at the minimum of expense. The intention is to sell ice at wholesale only and thus to build up an out of town trade as well as supplying local dealers. There is certainly room for another ice plant here as the two local plants cannot produce an amount equal to the consumption.

FRANK LONERGAN WEDS

MISS MARY CORBETT

Ceremony Took Place at Parsons, Kansas, the Home of the Bride—Young People Will Reside on Farm Near Murrayville.

One of the prettiest and most impressive wedding ceremonies of the season was solemnized at St. Mary's Catholic church at Parsons, Kansas, at 8 o'clock, Wednesday morning, when Miss Mary Corbett, of Parsons, became the bride of Mr. Frank Lonergan of Murrayville.

The wedding party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Miss Margaret Farragahar. The Rt. Rev. Fr. McCullough officiating and the Rt. Rev. Fr. Domine of Neodesha, Kansas, assisted at the mass. Three beautiful solos were rendered by the able tenor trio. Following the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, only immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom being present.

The young people were attended by the sister of the bride, Miss Sadie Corbett, while the brother of the groom, Mr. Edward Lonergan acted as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with white brocade and carried a large bouquet of white roses, the bride veil being held in place with orange blossoms. The bridesmaid wore a gown of yellow charmeuse satin with an over dress of shadow lace, the drapes being gracefully held in place with clusters of pink rose buds. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and wore bride's roses in her hair.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Corbett of Parsons, Kansas, who by a charming manner and winsome way has won many friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lonergan and is a young man of honesty and industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonergan will be at home to their friends, after March first on a farm, five miles south east of Murrayville.

Musical Possibilities.

Modern composers who lack the faculty of creating original melodies sometimes try to console themselves with the reflection that the melodic possibilities have been exhausted. How far this is from being true Dr. Ralph Dunstan has shown: "Even with such a short musical form as the Anglican single chant, which consists in its simple statement of the notes, no less than 60,000,000 different melodies are possible, without regarding the multitudinous differences formed by passing and auxiliary notes, harmonies and rhythmical accentuation. Supposing only one in a hundred of these tones to be musically interesting, we have a possible repertoire of 600,000 single chants. And if this be true of such a simple and restricted form of melody, with what overwhelming force does it apply to longer and more important compositions!" The chromatic scale yields over 6,000,000,000 possibilities in the construction of melodies.—Chicago News.

London's First Stone Bridge.

London only gained its true position and importance when the first bridge replaced the ferry across the Thames. The first stone bridge there seems to have been begun in 1176; there had previously been a wooden structure. It is said that King John, pleased with the bridges that he saw in France, brought over a skilled French workman, and he decided to raise the necessary revenue from the rent of houses built upon this bridge. Its arches were narrow, sometimes causing accidents to boats passing beneath; and occasionally whole blocks of houses, falling into disrepair, would topple over into the stream. There were twenty arches, one forming a drawbridge. Many reasons made a drawbridge desirable—not only the passing of masted vessels, but the power of raising it against an enemy.—Milwaukee Sentinel.
